

December 12, 2001

Dear Junior Sailor:

As a young sailor, you know how much fun sailing is.

And just like all sailors, you probably get bummed out when the season ends and you have to pack away your boat and hang up the foulies for the winter. Right now, spring launch sure seems far away.

But, I'd like to invite you to the next best thing to getting out sailing: A boat show. Come and visit us at Atlantic SAIL EXPO® in Atlantic City, NJ this January and "go sailing inside." Visit the show and sail the computerized sailing simulator or race against your friends with the remote control boats on the race pool. Of course you can also check out the latest gear and boats from your favorite sailing companies like Vanguard, Gill, Henri Lloyd, Harken and many more.

Or if you would like a chance to meet and talk with myself, Skip Whyte, and many other junior sailors visit the show on Sunday, January 27th for "Junior Sailing Sunday" and take part in the following schedule of events:

- ◆ 10:30am to 12pm ~ Simulator Trials/Competition - Test your sailing skills against your peers on our cutting edge sailing simulator. Win by setting the best time around the course.
- ◆ 11am to 12pm ~ Parental Role in Junior Sailing Seminar – Seminar for parents of junior sailors presented by Joan Preyley, high school sailing coach at the Key School, Annapolis, MD.
- ◆ 12pm to 1pm ~ Getting Better and Having More fun sailing – seminar for junior sailors presented by Anthony Kotoun, 2000 College All American 2001 Shields Nationals Champion.
- ◆ 1pm to 2pm ~ Model Sailboat Match Racing – Match race the remote control boats on the pool for a chance to compete against Anthony Kotoun and myself.
- ◆ 2pm ~ Awards/Prize – Win a variety of prizes donated by different show exhibitors.

Winter is too long not to do any sailing. I hope you can join us at the show!

Sincerely,

Gary Jobson

10th Anniversary
Atlantic SAIL EXPO®
January 24-27, 2002
	GOOD FOR 1 JUNIOR ADMISSION (18 & Under)
Valid any day of the Show
To redeem this coupon, bring it to the will call window during show hours and it will be exchanged for 1 show ticket.
	